

Bring It

(your game and your own beer, that is) if you think being in a dry Pennsylvania township is a strike against Penn National, think again. Penn National welcomes you to BYOB. In fact, they'll help you ice it down.

Groups have been taking their annual golf trips to Penn National for years, because when it comes to the three-day, two-night golf trip, it's hard to beat Penn National. Here's why one group returns year after year.

The Founders Course

The Founders Course is the reason we started coming to Penn National. Built in the 1960s, the course has a traditional feel with fairways lined by huge hardwoods and evergreens. Founders is demanding off the tee but fair and challenging to all the guys in the group. They are always improving the course, like a recent bunker renovation project that made the course even more attractive.

Iron Forge

In 1996, the Iron Forge Course was added. The ability to play two really good, but different courses during our three-day buddy trip really solidified our commitment to Penn National. What's great about Forge is its linksy style is totally opposite of Founders.

Plus, it's the "good" linksy where you can "grip it and rip it" off the tee and the heather is out far enough that you're not looking for golf balls.

You Can Bring Your Own "Adult Beverages"

On most trips someone has to reach pretty deep each time the cart girl comes around, but at Penn National we bring our own beer (or swing lube of choice for each group member). The staff even provides the cooler and the ice. And since you can bring anything you like and drink it anywhere on the property, you will always have your favorite bottle of wine available at dinner.

Penn National Makes it Easy

Everything is in one location. Both courses play

HOME OF THE BUDDY TRIP

“Just wanted to let you know we had a great time at Penn National and will definitely put you on the top of our list for next year. Everything about the place was first class. The staff, golf course and dining room were both professional and just plain nice, a rare combination of characteristics. The courses were wonderful. It was great to have a whole building for ourselves which eliminated the ‘hotel’ feeling that becomes old after a day or two.”
— Jerry Rosenstrach,
White Plains, New York

“I have visited many facilities around the country and overseas. I have seldom encountered an operation like Penn National where every person I came into contact with wanted to make sure I was enjoying my visit. This includes the starters and cart staff, the pro shop staff, the restaurant hostesses and the staff at the Inn. Not only will I return, but I will recommend your facility to anyone who appreciates a first class operation.”
— Ken Kacmarski,
Westminster, Maryland

“Thank you for another memorable experience. The rooms are always very good. The meals were excellent as usual. The courses were extremely pleasurable. I always feel tested by the courses but never defeated. A great golf experience. We always start looking forward to our Penn National trip during the Christmas holidays. It is a holiday that gives us wonderful memories and has us thinking ahead to next year. Thank you and we look forward to 2011.”
— John Allan,
Binghamton, New York

“Thank you for making it easy for me to arrange the outing. I can assure you that all went well, very well. In fact, our group decided we should make it an annual event (or maybe even bi-annual). From the accommodations to the layouts and conditions of the courses it was a hit, and it made me a hero. I heard no complaints or criticisms, and we are all ready to do it again. And maybe even include more ladies.”
— Kathy Kopcik,
Parks Green, Pennsylvania

from the same clubhouse and the staff takes care of your clubs. They clean them, store them overnight, and have them waiting on your cart the next day. We don’t have to do any “shlepping.” Plus, at Penn National, they let us book all our tee times in advance so we know we can finish our morning round, have a leisurely lunch and not be rushed – or have to sit around for hours – to get to our afternoon tee time.

Great Conditions, Great Format

Both courses are rated highly in all the golf publications and we always find them in great condition. The two different styles make our Ryder Cup format a lot of fun. The rural mountain setting is great for relaxing. When we have time, Penn National has massage services, swimming, tennis and historic Gettysburg is nearby.

The Inn is Quaint and Quiet

The Inn is located off the eighth fairway of the Founders Course. Up to 16 guys can stay in the same building, so our group “owns” a building. We open doors and use the hallways and common areas for socializing and playing cards. For larger groups, Penn National provides a hospitality room.

Stay for a Lifetime: No Tax on Retirement Income

Where to Retire magazine, the nation’s authority on retirement destinations, has ranked Penn National among its “America’s 100 Best Master Planned Communities” for eight straight years. With no state tax on retirement income and low local real estate taxes, living at Penn National is an affordable choice. Plus, there are no association dues. The streets are not lined with cookie-cutter homes. Bring your own architect and build your dream home.

It’s Easy to Get There

Our group is spread out throughout New England, the Middle Atlantic and the Midwest so Penn National is centrally located and easy to get to, just off Interstate 81 or a quick drive from the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

See You Next Year

As group leader, I only have to talk to one person to arrange everything – tee times, lodging, food. Penn

National even takes care of receiving individual deposits from my guys. We’ve tried some other places, but after 14 years at Penn National, I think we’ve found a home.
